ABOUT THE EVENT

Clinical leaders everywhere are faced with increasing pressure to deliver higher quality care, with less funding, time and resources. "Do more with less" has become the everyday mantra, yet it is paramount that patient-centred care is the priority and community healthcare needs are met. In order to successfully navigate rapid changes occurring, clinical leaders must adapt models of care and collaborate with their teams and key stakeholders to effectively implement them.

This two-day workshop will deliver the essential toolkit to develop superior leadership capabilities in clinical leaders. You will learn to harness the power of adaptable and agile leadership exploring Emotional Intelligence to enhance performance and essential communication skills. Directly addressing the needs of clinical leaders, this interactive workshop will provide you with an intensive professional development opportunity to enhance and refine your leadership skills and strategies. It will provide the essential skills to engage and influence non-clinical leaders and stakeholders to cultivate prosperous partnerships and deliver patient-centered health care excellence.

WHO WILL ATTEND?

YOUR FACILITATOR

Dr Kirsty Agar-Jacomb is a Consultant Clinical and Coaching Psychologist who believes in the relevance and value of clinical psychological knowledge and practices to workplace and organisational contexts.

With 20 years of experience working in the mental health field in the NGO, DHB, ACC and private sectors, working with highly troubled people often stuck in complex and rigid systems. In her clinical leadership roles, she has contributed to clinical governance, strategic planning, workforce development, and lead service development and improvement projects including a large model of care review. She is a member of the New Zealand Psychological Society (NZPSS), International Society for Coaching Psychology (ISFCP), International Positive Psychology Association (IPPA), and the Association for Contextual Behavioural Science (ACBS).

Kirsty has both a Masters and a Doctoral degree in clinical psychology and her research has a practical, applied focus – what do people need and want, and are they getting it?
