Indigenous Women's Leadership Workshop

BACKGROUND

Research shows that leadership cannot be singularly defined and is perceived differently depending on cultural and national differences. Effective leadership is a notion of positive influence, as leadership is strengthened by our customs, beliefs and values.

The Indigenous Women's Leadership Workshop provides an essential platform for aspiring, existing and emerging leaders. This workshop creates a forum to share stories, wisdom and a passion for leading with the body, heart, soul and spirit. Discussions will delve into how we combine our cultural roles with the responsibilities of the business world. We will also explore strategies to effectively put ourselves forward for workplace opportunities.

This two-day event gathers Indigenous women from across the country to reflect on cultural heritage and refine leadership strengths as we pave the way for the next generation of Indigenous leaders.

Day One

Maintaining culture to unlock your leadership potential

- Understanding your country and culture in contemporary Australia
- Balancing the commitments of community, career and character
- The importance of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander female leaders to community

Individual strengths and areas for growth

- Examining your leadership traits and how to apply them
- Understanding where your strengths fit within your community or organisation
- Recognising growth areas and how to reinforce your skills

The importance of authentic leadership and being true to yourself

- The role authenticity plays in effectively leading a team
- Advocating for yourself and developing your leadership identity

Understand and align your cultural and corporate responsibilities

- Be present in all aspects of your life
- Confidently incorporate your personal journey
- Remain genuine to your true self

INTRODUCING YOUR FACILITATOR

Leanne Phillips
Chief Executive Officer
Healing to Employment

Leanne Phillips has dedicated her career to working with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. She is a passionate campaigner for a holistic approach to humanity. Her expertise lies in developing and delivering social and emotional wellbeing programs to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, as well as migrant Australians.

Over the past 10 years, Leanne has started a number of successful organisations. Her mission is to create a place where acceptance and love know no bounds. Leanne's approach to mentoring and leadership is a reflection of her spirit and heart.

Day Two

When cultures clash and how this can impact you

- Juggling corporate and traditional cultures
- Understanding how our communication styles impact our life
- The art of mindfulness

Develop effective tools to communicate your values

- Understanding your personal and professional needs
- Effectively present your values and negotiate your needs with your organisation
- Handling difficult conversations with staff or community members

The importance of resilience and confidence for leaders

- Strategies on how to work with people who have differing values to yourself
- Dealing with disappointment and setbacks throughout your career
- Identifying stress triggers and how to avoid them

Embracing and mastering your emotions

- Understanding the role emotions play in leadership
- Recognising when to lead with emotion and when not to
- Considering the impact of decisions on others
