LEAD WITH STRENGTH

The underrepresentation of women in the defence industry is no secret. It's easy to feel isolated, but in this industry of high stakes projects, dispersed remote teams, and complex stakeholder relationships, professional isolation is not an option. You need to make your mark. You need serious grit, strong allegiances, and outstanding leadership skills to advance your career, especially as you begin to navigate the new world of work.

Learn from like-minded women pioneering the frontier of women's leadership in the defence industry, and the best women's leadership coaches in the country. Grapple with the big industry leadership questions and hone your skills as a communicator. Make your mark as an indispensable leader in your organisation and the industry at large.

- ► Hone your communication skills to establish authority & have your voice heard
- Develop powerful strategic relationships with colleagues & stakeholders
- Lead high-performing teams, even when they are remote & dispersed
- ► Leverage strategies for uncovering top female talent & lift as you lead

WHO WILL ATTEND?

SUMMIT DAY 1

6 OCTOBER

LEAD WITH PASSION & PURPOSE KEYNOTE

9:45 - 10:40

In the hyper-connected, rapid-paced world we live in, finding success in leading other people requires individualisation. People want everything customised to their needs and preferences, including their leaders. However, it is impossible to be all things to everyone, so what can you do? The answer begins with authenticity, cultivating your leadership style rooted in who you are and what you believe. CMDR Christina Ween will share insight from her career, what drives her, and the importance of embodying your passion and purpose.

Employees' desires and demands have evolved, and it can be challenging for companies to keep up, even with a bombardment of trendy tips for keeping different generations of workers happy. To complicate matters further, flexibility must be managed to work with the regimented work culture of your primary stakeholders: the Department of Defence and the Defence Forces. In this interactive discussion, panellists will evolve the work-life balance debate touching on their own experiences, explore the benefits of a flexible work environment, and discuss how to balance the needs of your employees and your stakeholders.

LEADING REMOTE TEAMS - FROM INTERSTATE TO GLOBAL CASE STUDY 12:00 - 12:50

With the Defence Industry dispersed across Australia, you'll likely be called upon to lead teams with members situated all over the country. This intensifies common leadership challenges like engagement and accountability, and raises unique challenges like working across time zones and cultures. For your team to thrive and deliver, they will need a sense of connection to their work and each other to rival podneighbours in conventional workplaces.

THE MILITARY PSYCHOLOGICAL CONTRACT EXPERT COMMENTARY

1:50 - 2:50

The Defence Industry brings together a wide array of professionals from the corporate sector and defence services. Transitioning between these vastly different workplaces can be destabilising and produce friction in working relationships. As a leader, you need to be able to foster cultures which support your ex-service people to utilise their extraordinary and unique skills in their new environment, and your corporate professionals to understand and work with your veterans.

BOARDROOM TO BATTLESPACE - BUILDING COLLABORATIVE CULTURES

CASE STUDY

2:55 - 3:50

Many hands make light work, and nowhere is this truer than in the Defence Industry. To deliver consistently outstanding outcomes, your team members need to be expert collaborators. It starts creating a collaboration culture, harnessing strengths and supporting the development of new skills.

Amanda Holt

Chief Executive Officer SYPAQ Systems

CLOSING REMARKS

SUMMIT DAY 2

CONNECT WITH YOUR ALLIES CASE STUDY

9:00 - 9:45

The challenges you face as a woman in the Defence Industry are unique to your experience. They may not always be evident to onlookers. However, these obstacles must be overcome to advance women in the space, and ensure there is a pathway for your success. That means building networks and the confidence to have open discourse with those supporters. Nicole will provide some insight from sixteen years in Defence Industry on having these conversations with confidence, and building a coalition of allies co-operating for positive change.

NETWORKING AND CAREER ADVANCEMENT IN THE NEW WORLD OF WORK EXPERT COMMENTARY

9.50 - 10.50

In the Defence Industry, relationships are everything. To progress your career, you need a strong network of peers, champions, and allies. With these in place, the glass-ceiling begins to crack, and along those fault-lines, women can carve out paths for their leadership careers. In this interactive expert commentary session, explore strategies to build confidence and connections, overcome your fear and strengthen your professional network.

DIVERSITY OF THOUGHT & THE FUTURE OF THE WORKPLACE PANEL 11:05 - 12:05

While we've long known that gender, race, and cultural diversity create better organisations, the newest workplace frontier is all about our minds. People bring different cultures, backgrounds and personalities to the table, and these differences shape the way we think. In the Defence Industry, this includes achieving diversity and harnessing the mix of defence and non-defence professionals to get the most out of your organisation and teams. In this interactive discussion, our panellists will share their own experience and provide you with the tools to cultivate "diversity of thought" in your business, explaining how this can boost innovation and creative problemsolving

THE PIPELINE PROBLEM - ATTRACTING & RETAINING TOP FEMALE TALENT

CASE STUDY

12:10 - 1:00

With the Australian Government's investment in defence capability and the Defence Industry expected to boom over the next ten years, organisations must put strategies in place to meet the growth in demand for skilled workers. There needs to be a renewed focus on attracting and retaining all potential sections of the workforce - most importantly, women.

COMMUNICATE WITH IMPACT & INFLUENCE EXPERT COMMENTARY

2:00 - 3:00

The Australian Defence Industry is made up of thousands of businesses across the country who aren't in the Defence Force, but use their expertise, experience and skills to supply and support it - they are the workforce behind the Defence Force. Given this unique relationship, soft skills such as communication, influence and negotiation are essential for career success. To be an effective leader, you must be able to influence primary stakeholders through structured conversations and maintain solid business relationships. In this interactive mini-workshop session, Communication Coach, Arabella, will provide you with the skills to make an impact and communicate confidently.

GAINING VISIBILITY - NAVIGATING MALE-DOMINATED ENVIRONMENTS CASE STUDY

3:05 - 3:55

Despite steps in the right direction, women face an uphill struggle proving themselves in disproportionately male industries. With only 1/5 Defence Industry employees being female, and only 1/7 holding a leadership position, "making it" in this environment necessitates learning how to navigate and operate effectively. Unconscious bias, male preferential norms, and a lack of recognition are all challenges women must learn to overcome if they wish to succeed. Melynda will share experiences from her own career, provide you with strategies for gaining visibility in your organisation and explore pathways to success in this male-dominated industry.

LEAD WITH STRENGTH ROUNDTABLE

🐧 BOEING

The Australian Defence Industry is set to grow significantly in the next decade. Although this is good news for the workforce in general, there is still work to be done to make the industry an employer of choice for women. Over the past two days, you have listened to and participated in inspirational keynotes, interactive panel discussions and practical coaching sessions, providing you with the skills and strategies to unleash your potential and lead with strength. In this interactive closing roundtable, you will explore key takeaways from the summit, discuss factors influencing your success, and create an action plan for your future.

PLUS TWO WORKSHOPS!

Plus two separately bookable interactive workshops after the event

^{4:10 - 4:30}

POST-SUMMIT WORKSHOPS

WORKSHOP A 8 OCTOBER

THE ESSENTIAL STAKEHOLDER ENGAGEMENT TOOL-KIT

Communication and stakeholder engagement go handin-hand. In the Defence Industry, with multiple and diverse stakeholders working collaboratively on critical, high-stakes projects, it is essential that leaders master sophisticated communication and stakeholder engagement skills.

In this workshop, you will gain all the skills you need to develop a comprehensive communication and engagement strategy. You will master business communication with ease, build a deep understanding of your stakeholders, and diffuse conflict before it becomes explosive.

Self-development

- Communicate complex processes and procedures for optimal comprehension
- Gain tools and techniques to generate pro-active crossfunctional communication
- Utilise effective communication channels to share critical project developments

Essential principles of successful stakeholder engagement

- Segment and prioritise your stakeholder groups
- Analyse your stakeholders to understand their needs and decision drivers
- Establish a foundation for productive and efficient collaboration towards mutual wins

Stakeholders and strategy from ideation to implementation

- Design flexible strategies to weather perennial change
- Understand your internal stakeholders and their vital role in strategy development and delivery
- Engage external stakeholders from inception to delivery

Stakeholders and conflict management and resolution

- Explore scenarios and practical tools to deal with difficult situations
- Enhance conflict management skills
- Develop an outrage mitigation program

WORKSHOP B 9 OCTOBER

MAXIMISE YOUR LEADERSHIP POTENTIAL - THE POWER OF AUTHENTIC LEADERSHIP

Learning to be self-aware and articulate your vision in a way that engages the right people at the right time are invaluable skills that will develop and enhance your authentic leadership voice. In this interactive full-day workshop, you will explore the importance of authentic leadership, identify your purpose, and leverage this to build your professional brand and leadership identity. You will be equipped with practical skills to communicate authentically, develop strategies to master emotional agility and learn best practice for balancing your workload - creating a personal action plan to unleash your leadership potential.

Build your professional brand and leadership identity

- Identify your purpose and build your personal brand
- Leverage your personal brand to strengthen your leadership identity
- Align your leadership strength with the expectations of your organisation

Enhance authentic and strategic communication

- Learn to understand and prioritise key relationships
- Identify channels for communication and recognise which are the most effective
- Develop successful strategies to make an impact

Develop emotional agility and overcome criticism

- Effective strategies for self-awareness and self-regulation
- ► Understand the circles of control, influence and concern
- View criticism as a stepping stone, not a brick wall

Balance your workload and create an active career plan

- Manage and maintain a work-life balance with an everincreasing workload
- Establish a leadership mindset that will accelerate your career development
- Develop a personal action plan and practical strategies to implement
