ABOUT THE EVENT

With mounting workload expectations and multifaceted challenges, Education leaders find themselves stretched by ever-expanding role expectations and stress. Leading and managing in the evolving Education environment brings challenges few other professions experience. Without effective self-care strategies, it is becoming increasingly difficult to deliver excellence at work. While improving time management, prioritising, or learning new systems is useful, the most effective leaders know how to take stock of themselves and their emotions. Implementing effective focusing techniques like mindfulness develops strong self-awareness and selfregulation, so you can be the best leader you can be.

In this workshop, you will be encouraged to think about your organisation holistically and to understand the opportunities and avenues in which you can be an effective change agent. Expert facilitation will allow you to explore the unique skills required to lead effectively in education. Practical and interactive sessions will equip you with the strategies and techniques to enable you to reach your full potential, to pursue your chosen career path and to achieve success.

WHO WILL ATTEND?

Existing & emerging leaders across all New Zealand's Education sectors

- Tertiary (Universities & Polytechnic)
- Primary & Secondary
- Early Childhood Education

YOUR FACILITATOR

Kerene has an extensive professional background as a Registered Nurse, Principal Lecturer, Academic Leader, Executive Coach and Career Management Consultant. As a Head of Department within the Tertiary Education Sector in New Zealand, Kerene excelled at leading teams through change for 7 years.

After experiencing the personal benefits of mindfulness and the seeing the advantage of combining mindfulness with coaching, Kerene trained as a mindfulnessbased meditation teacher and launched the business 'Mindful at Work' in 2016. Kerene is passionate about people understanding that mindfulness is far more than improving focus and reducing stress. It's the core leadership skill. Her one on one coaching clients include Chief Executive, Senior and Middle Managers.
